

SYMPOSIUM AT GARST MUSEUM GREENVILLE, OH, APRIL 10, 2010

by
Susie Carrington
Greenville, OH 45331

SPEAKER, Greg Shipley, explains his work in historic archaeology.

SPEAKERS Tony DeRegnaucourt (Archaic point types) and John (Chris) Rummel (Hopewell) prepare for their talks.

SPEAKER Bob Converse.

Matt Rismiller of Greenville, Ohio, explains the significance of his cache of Turkeytails.

*Ron Thiebeau and Jim Bartlett.
Ohio Archaeologist*

Greg Shipley's display of artifacts from his excavation at McKee's Town.

Dr. David Cox and Paul Leasor.

Dave Cox display of the many varieties of chert used by prehistoric people.

At left, retired schoolteacher and part time archaeologist, Bob Welch.

Paul Leasor and Louis Hoying of Minster, Ohio.

Ron Thiebeau and display.

Elaine Holzapfel display of artifacts from Darke County.

The McAtees, Tony DeRegnaucourt, Mike Batten, and Jim Beckman discuss Ohio archaeology.

Everyone was interested in the displays.